TUESDAY, ...... APRIL 20. the solution.

Adjournment of the Legislature. At two o'clock, A. M., on last Tuesday, the supper, or, rather, breakfast, which folservation, having left an hour before, in order to reach the cars. We have neither the action of that body. Perhaps this may be done herenfter. Among the many acts passed it is to be hoped that some, at least, will be useful and beneficient in their operation-some, we fear, will prove inconvenient if not oppressive to the people, while others, such as the re-organization of the Penitentiary, State House Commissioners, Board of Public Works, Benevolent Institutions, and others of a mere partisan character, intended only to make places for hungry politicians, will answer that purpose at least, and thereby gratify those whose principles of action are the spoils of office. These laws we shall probably publish hereafter with such comments as shall seem proper.

Some of the most ultra of the party measures introduced in the House, failed for want of the requisite number of votes, a few members of the Democratic majority having the honest independence to disregard the edicts of the caucus and refusing absolutely to vote. This, under our present Constitution, which requires fiftyfour votes in the House to pass a bill, is as effectual to prevent the passage of an Act, as to vote against it. This was the case with the bill creating the Commissioners of the Appointing Power, which, in violation of the Constitution, undertook to create a Board of three Democrats who were to appoint all officers in the State, now appointed by the Governor and Senate, together with the trustees of all the Benevolent Institutions, State House Comavowedly intended for the sole purpose of securing places for a swarm of noisy demagogues, whom the people would not elect, failed through the unexpected revolt of Mr. Mott and two or three others, who could not be forced into the measures. The project failed by one vote only. But while the "traitors," as they were called, defeated this darling scheme of the leaders, they of the Kansas swindle could well exceed the enormity of this proposition. It proposed, in positive violation of the Constitution, to turn out all the officers above referred to, and fill their places with partisans. And to make the thing successful the purity of the Supreme Court itself was tampered with. It was foreseen, of course, that the validity of the Act would be contested, and to forestall its opinion, the Chief Justice of that same Court which was to pass upon its constitutionality-he being a Democrat-was made the head of this appointing Commission! Thus we had the sickening spectacle of the Chief position to deal out the petty offices of the State among the thousands of greedy expectants, and then re-ascend the sacred Bench and gravely decide the constitutionality of the Law, and the validity of the appointments he has just made under it! But as if this indirect attempt upon the integrity of the Court was not sufficient to secure the end designed, the bill further provided that if any person should attempt to test the validity of the Act, by bringing it before the Court, he should forfeit not less than $1,000,00 nor more than $10,000,00, and this, even if the Court, so bribed, should decide in his favor! We ask in all seriousness, could Lecompton beat that? Yet this scheme was lost for the want of one vote only, and the few Democrats who refused to be made publicly denounced as traitors and read

The Republican and anti-Lecompton the Legislature of the State of Ohio closed papers throughout the country, have been its labors for a time, having at that hour of that stupendous villiany in Congress. rejoicing for several weeks over the defeat January, 1859. Of the closing scene, and As our readers will remember we did not share in that rejoicing; for while we earlowed, we cannot speak from personal ob- neatly wished it might be so, the history of the past had taught us that the defeat of this darling scheme of the Slave power, time nor disposition, at present, to review backed as it was by all the power and patronage of the Administration, would be too glorious a trinmph of justice and right to be realized at present. The victory however seemed complete. On the fullest vote ever given in Congress-but one member being absent-freedom trumphed by a majority of eight. This, it was supposed, settled the question forever in favor of the people, and against the border ruffian instruments of the Administration which opposed them. But it seems the end is not yet. The "States," a Democratic paper published in Washington, says that two hundred thousand dollars have been subscribed to reverse the vote in the House and carry Lecompton through! Sc the power of money-naked, bald, damning bribery, is to accomplish what party drill and Government patronage failed to do. But will it succeed? We fear it will. Only four men are needed, and if in every twelve there is one Judas. the number can be secured.

The House, after voting by a majority of eight to adhere to its position in the rejection of the Lecompton fraud, has been brought to reconsider its vote and appoint a committee of conference with the Senate to compromise the matter. We all know what a compromise means. To effect this degrading purpose, four members who had steadily voted for the right, must be brought to betray their country, trample out the hopes of freedom, and damn their own names to eternal infamy-and they were had!
